ORGANIZATION AND MANAGEMENT METODOLOGY FOR THE PART - TIME MASTER DEGREE STUDY PROGRAM ADMISSION EXAM

1. Legal Framework

Organizing the admission contest for Department of Distance Learning and Part-Time Studies (DIDFR) for the part-time study master degree in the September 2025 session is contingent upon the general regulation rules elaborated by the Ministry of Education and Scientific Research under the guidance of the “Gheorghe Dima” National Music Academy (ANMGD) Admission Committee.

In accord with the Higher Education Law nr. 199/2023 as well as other normative documents which regulate admission in the higher learning education:

- a) Law nr.288/2004 regarding the Organization of University Studies;
- b) Order Nr. 428 from April 24, 2025 regarding the approval of the Frame-Methodology for organizing the admission in university degree schedules at undergraduate, masters, and doctoral levels for the 2024 – 2025 university school year.
- c) H.G. nr. 1011/08.10.2001 regarding the organization and functioning of the distance learning as well as the part-time study program in higher learning institutions;
- d) OM 6251/19.11.2012 Order for approval of the Frame-Rules regarding organization, rendering and normation of educational activities for distance learning and part-time study course schedules at the higher learning level.
- e) The ANMGD CARTA Cluj-Napoca and its connex regulations.

According to the principle of university autonomy, the task of organizing an admission contest falls within the powers of the ANMGD Senate. The admission process is organized only in institutions of higher education which have in their structure accredited specializations and specializations which obtained authorization for temporary functioning.

The admission contest to study programs through distance learning is conducted under the DIDFR regulation concerning the prerequisites for entering the competition, the documents necessary for registration, the registration period and selection criteria, the criteria of selecting candidates with equal average on the last place and other specific conditions.

Admission is approved in the descending order of the GPA until all vacancies approved for each specialization are filled. The minimum admission average is 7.00.
